

that the university may impose, based on the facts and circumstances of your particular situation:

No-contact order. The university may impose a temporary “no contact” order restricting contact between individuals during the course of an investigation.

Interim suspension. The university may remove one or more students who are suspected of violating policy from the university prior to a hearing on the issues if there is a potential for risk to one or more members of the university community.

Modification of living and/or dining arrangements. The university can provide a temporary modification of living and/or dining arrangements, adjust the housing assignment of students who are alleged to have violated university policy, and/or provide emergency on-campus housing to students living off campus as the situation warrants, as available.

Security escorts. The university may provide temporary security escort options for ensuring your safety as you travel to and from specific locations on and off campus.

Modification of class and campus employment schedules. The university can review temporary reassignment of classes and on-campus employment duties within the university during the course of an investigation. The university may also review the assigned duties of students who are alleged to have violated university policy.

COMMUNITY OPTION

Obtain an order of protection through the court:

You may contact one of the community victim advocates listed below to assist with the process and completion of paperwork. Advocates can make the process easier to navigate and are available to answer any questions.

Orders of protection are heard in the Jackson County Courthouse Monday through Friday at 8:30 a.m. Emergency orders of protection must be filed with the circuit clerk’s office by 8:15 a.m.

WHAT ADDITIONAL SUPPORT OR ACCOMMODATIONS ARE AVAILABLE AT THE UNIVERSITY?

The university will assist any victim of gender-based violence with accommodations in his or her academic and residence life. You may request:

Interim alteration of living arrangements. If it is determined that an on-campus housing assignment is affecting your academic success, the university will assist you in adjusting that situation, to the extent possible. The university also reserves the right to adjust or cancel the housing contract of students who are found to have violated university policy. If an off-campus living situation is no longer conducive to your academic success as a result of your experience, the university will assist you in finding on-campus accommodations, as available.

Interim class schedule adjustments. If it is determined that the most effective way to help you ensure your academic success is to adjust one or more classes you are enrolled in, the university will assist you in minimizing the impact to your academic plans and goals.

Permanent adjustment of student employment. If you are no longer able to fulfill your employment assignment because of your experience, the university will assist you in exploring other potential options within the university, and may review the assigned duties of students who are found to have violated university policy.

No-cost academic support. If it is determined that your experience has put your academic success in jeopardy, the university will provide academic support services available at no cost to you.

Low-cost medical and psychological support. The university may provide low/no-cost psychological support for ongoing issues related to your experience.

Assistance in adding, dropping or retaking courses. If your experience has made it difficult or impossible to continue with one or more of your classes for a period of time, the university will assist you in the process of adding, dropping or retaking one or more courses at a different time, day, location or semester. The university will assist you in determining the best course of action, taking your financial aid, living situation and academic status into consideration.

SAFETY AWARENESS FACTS AND EDUCATION

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS, RESOURCES AND OPTIONS

What to do if you are the victim of gender-based violence sexual assault, dating or domestic violence, and stalking.

WHAT ARE MY OPTIONS FOR REPORTING GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE?

If you are the victim of gender-based violence, including being a victim of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence or stalking, you have options. You may choose where, if and how to report the violations, and you may request university assistance and advisement in reporting. The university has a variety of options to assist you and will work to address any factors that may have led to this crime. If you choose to report, or are a witness of, gender-based violence, you may choose any of the following options:

OPTION 1: REPORT TO LAW ENFORCEMENT

You may contact the police department directly to initiate an investigation. They will collect important evidence that may be critical in a criminal process and assist you with seeking medical treatment. The Department of Public Safety will notify the Title IX office of your report.

OPTION 2: REPORT ONLY TO THE UNIVERSITY (TITLE IX OFFICE)

Even if you do not wish to pursue criminal charges, you are encouraged to speak with the Office of Diversity and Equity, or any member of the faculty or staff, to assist you in filing a report with the university. The Title IX office has individuals who are trained to investigate gender-based violence crimes, and they can also assist you in seeking accommodations or protective measures through the university. This office will not report the crime to the police unless you want them to do so.

OPTION 3: REPORT TO BOTH THE UNIVERSITY AND LAW ENFORCEMENT

University staff members are available to assist you in filing a report with law enforcement or the Title IX office. If you would like assistance and support in contacting the police department and/or the Title IX office, you may contact the university's confidential advisor, or any other faculty or staff member. These individuals have been trained to accompany and support you through the process of filing a report. Any faculty or staff member you feel comfortable speaking with can accompany you through the process of filing a report.

HOW CAN I REPORT GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE?

ELECTRONICALLY:

Complete a report on the SAFE website at safe.siu.edu.

IN PERSON OR BY TELEPHONE:

- Department of Public Safety at 1175 S. Washington St., Trueblood Hall, 618/453-3771.
- Confidential Advisor – Wellness and Health Promotion Services, 618/453-4429.
- SIU Carbondale Office of Diversity and Equity in Davies Hall, room 150, 618/453-4807.
- Any member of the university faculty or staff.

TO WHOM CAN I SPEAK CONFIDENTIALLY?

Confidential advisor: The university employs a confidential advisor to guide you through the process and assist you in seeking accommodations. The confidential advisor may be required to report certain statistical information to the Jeanne Clery Act compliance officer for campus safety purposes.

Student Health Center staff: The Student Health Center employs licensed medical providers, mental health counselors and support staff to speak to you about these topics. These individuals are not required to report any information regarding gender-based violence to anyone else on campus while working in their official capacities. We encourage you to seek assistance of the professional staff at the Student Health Center.

WHAT INFORMATION WILL BE SHARED WITH THE UNIVERSITY?

Except for the confidential advisor, or the medical and counseling personnel from the Student Health Center, all other faculty and staff members are required to disclose information on gender-based violence issues they are aware of to the Title IX coordinator. After any such report, you may be contacted by an investigator to discuss the report as the university works to investigate and prevent any additional gender-based crimes.

Under the Clery Act, campus personnel must maintain accurate statistical data on crimes that occur on university property, and they must report this information anonymously as aggregate data to the federal government and campus community. This information for the university is collected by the Clery Act compliance officer.

WHAT IF I DO NOT WANT THE UNIVERSITY TO INVESTIGATE?

If you are a victim of gender-based violence, you may request that the university not investigate the case even after it has been reported to the Office of Diversity and Equity. However, the Office of Diversity and Equity may not be able to honor this request if doing so might put other members of the campus community at risk. You are not required to speak to the university's investigators.

HOW DO I ASSIST IN AN INVESTIGATION OF GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE?

Report promptly: The sooner the university receives a report of gender-based violence, the easier it is to investigate and provide support to a victim of gender-based violence. We encourage everyone to report any acts of gender-based violence.

Preserve evidence of the crime: Following a crime of gender-based violence; sexual assault, dating or domestic violence, or stalking, the collection of evidence is critical and must be done in a timely manner. Evidence can help to determine what happened during the crime, how it happened and possibly who committed the crime.

The sooner the evidence is collected, the more likely it is to be useful in a criminal investigation. The evidence is stored for a period of time at the Illinois State Police Crime Lab, and it can be used if you choose to press charges either immediately or at a later date.

WHAT SHOULD I EXPECT DURING A UNIVERSITY INVESTIGATION?

When a report is made to the university, the Office of Diversity and Equity (ODE) will be notified and the complaint resolution procedures will be enacted. An investigator from ODE will contact the person who initiated the report for an interview to discuss the incident, as well as refer that person to available resources.

The reporting party will have the opportunity to request the complaint procedures begin in a prompt and timely manner. If the person who initiated the report decides to proceed with an administrative investigation, or if the university determines it must investigate based on the potential ongoing threat to the campus community, the investigator will document the complaint in writing and notify the respondent (accused) of the investigation.

The respondent will have the opportunity to read the complaint and respond. Both parties will be asked to submit names of potential witnesses and any relevant written evidence.

ODE may also independently identify witnesses and other evidence. Witnesses will be interviewed, and any available written evidence will be reviewed. The investigator will write a report of the investigation and submit it to the Title IX coordinator, who will make a decision as to whether university policy has been violated. Both parties will have the opportunity to appeal the decision. If a determination is made that a violation has occurred in the case of a student respondent, the decision will be sent to Student Rights and Responsibilities for a hearing and sanctioning, if appropriate. If a determination is made that a violation has occurred in the case of a faculty or staff member, the decision will be sent to the vice chancellor over the department responsible for discipline of that respondent.

During the investigation, both the victim and the respondent shall have the following rights:

- To be notified of an investigation by the university.
- To request a substitution of an investigator if the reporting party or the respondent believes that a conflict of interest exists.
- To have an advisor of his or her choice present during the interview(s).
- To participate in the investigation to the extent he or she chooses.
- To share any information that may be relevant to the investigation with the investigator.

- To be notified of the findings of an investigation.
- To appeal the finding.

The university's complete procedures for conducting the investigation may be found online at: policies.siu.edu/personnel_policies/chapter4/ch4-all/discrimination_sexualharassmentprocedures.html.

WHAT SHOULD I EXPECT DURING A STUDENT CONDUCT CODE HEARING?

If the university finds that gender-based violence occurred, a hearing before Student Rights and Responsibilities will be held to determine the appropriate sanction for the violation. During that hearing, both parties will have the following rights:

- To have one advisor of his or her choosing during the process.
- To participate in every step of the process to the extent he or she chooses.
- To share any information that may be relevant to the hearing.
- To review any evidence prior to the hearing.
- To call witnesses who have information about the incident.
- To receive notice of the outcome of the hearing.
- To appeal the outcome of the hearing.

The university's complete procedures for conducting the hearing for students may be found online at: policies.siu.edu/_common/documents/StudentConductCode.pdf.

HOW DO I PROTECT MYSELF AFTER AN INCIDENT OF GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE?

If you are a victim of gender-based violence, you may pursue several different alternatives to protect yourself, both internal to the university and through community resources.
